You can expect your ADVISORS to:

- Be knowledgeable about degree requirements and University policies and procedures
- Assist you in considering academic decisions
- Help you customize your program by adding minors or a second major if desired
- Help you work research and/or study abroad experience into your program if desired
- Help you with scheduling changes (Q-drops, Freshman Grade Exclusions)
- Inform you of special events, career/research information relevant to Psychology majors

Your advisors CANNOT:

- Make academic decisions for you
- Choose your courses for you, or plan a 4-year schedule for you
- Provide you with “easy” courses or paths to a degree and/or career
- Have all the answers to all your questions without consulting other resources
- Provide in-depth answers to complex questions via email or phone
- Always be immediately available during peak times (first 2 weeks of classes, during pre-registration)

YOU are expected to:

- Know how to access your degree evaluation in Howdy and familiarize yourself with it
- Be accountable for the academic decisions you make
- Visit an advisor at least once per semester to make sure you are on track
- Come prepared to advising meetings: bring your degree plan and a list of items you wish to discuss
- Read the notices we send to your University email
- Use your undergraduate catalog and Howdy to look for prerequisites BEFORE registering for classes
- Review your degree evaluation in Howdy before and after registering for classes
- Approach us immediately if there is a problem or you need help, rather than waiting until a situation gets worse
- Check with us before making a decision based on advice from a friend or classmate
