

LECTURER - TEXAS A&M UNIVERSITY. As part of ongoing enhancement of undergraduate education, the Department of Psychology (<http://psychology.tamu.edu>) at Texas A&M University invites applications for one non-tenure track Lecturer faculty position, to begin Fall, 2017. The position involves teaching 4 courses per semester and the option for one summer course. The successful candidate will contribute to teaching our high-demand courses, including introductory psychology as well as abnormal, developmental, and/or cognitive courses. We are particularly seeking candidates who are enthusiastic about innovative and engaging pedagogy and who are interested in developing hybrid and online material. Applicants with experience in high impact student learning practices are preferred. Applicants should have an outstanding record of instruction and a strong commitment to undergraduate education and diversity and inclusion in the classroom. A Ph.D. in psychology or a closely-related field is required. Salary is competitive. Information about promotion within the Lecturer title is available at: <http://liberalartscommunity.tamu.edu/docs/Bjobling/FacultyAcademicProfessionalTrackGuidelines.pdf>. To apply, please send electronic copies of a letter of intent, curriculum vitae, a statement on teaching (including engaging diversity in the classroom), and 2 reference letters to Jeannine Scambray at jscambray@tamu.edu. The search committee will begin reviewing applications immediately and will continue to review new applications until the position is filled. Texas A&M University is an Equal Opportunity Employer and has a policy of being responsive to the needs of dual-career couples.

Individual responsible for hire: Heather Lench